The amendment received 12/04/06 has been made of record. Claims 6-17 and 22-33 are pending.

Upon further consideration the indicated allowability of claims 6-18 and 22-30 contained in the previous office action is withdrawn.

Prosecution on the merits is reopened.

Claims 9-15 are objected to because of the following informalities: Each of these claims depends from canceled claim 1. Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 6, 7, 9-13, 15, 16, 25, 26 and 28-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ahmad et al '848.

Ahmad et al disclose lubricant compositions suitable for vaginal applications.

These compositions are taught as comprising polyhydric alcohol in amounts of up to 90 wt%. The addition of cellulose derivatives in amounts of 0.1 to 2% is taught. This latter component is seen as meeting the limitation to an insulating component. The further addition of antimicrobials and spermacides is also disclosed.

Applicants' limitations to heat release are seen as inherent to the compositions of the reference since the amounts and identity of the polyhydric alcohols are equivalent.

Art Unit: 1714

Applicants' method claims 31-33 require only that the compositions be applied to skin or a mucosal surface. This application is taught by the reference.

Claims 8, 14, 17 and 27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 22-24 are allowed.
